In a lengthy article about traumatic brain injury, The Wall Street Journal singled out Banyan Biomarkers, saying “A blood test helps doctors assess within an hour or two whether a patient with chest pains is actually having an attack ... Biomarkers could do the same for brain injury. Researchers are optimistic about work being done at Banyan Biomarkers Inc., a privately held start-up.